VELUSE AGENCY STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE (SOP)DEPARTMENT: Marketing & Sales Strategy
SUBJECT: Scarcity & Urgency Implementation (The "Wrapper" Protocol)
PURPOSE: To systematically decrease prospect action thresholds by deploying engineered scarcity and urgency, and to prevent ad fatigue by rotating the external "wrapping paper" of our Grand Slam Offers while leaving the operational core unchanged.

PART 1: TACTICAL SCARCITY (QUANTITY)

Scarcity is a function of quantity that relies on the psychological fear of loss to force prospects into taking action 1, 2. Human beings are far more motivated to act to hoard a scarce resource than they are to act on something that could simply help them 2. We use scarcity to artificially decrease supply, raise prices, and indirectly increase demand through perceived exclusiveness 3. The three types of scarcity are a limited supply of seats or slots, a limited supply of bonuses, or an offer that will never be available again 4. We deploy the following methods:
1. Total Business Cap: We place a hard ceiling on the number of clients we will service at a given level 5. By stating, "Our agency only accepts 25 customers total," we create a waiting list, and the moment a slot opens, price resistance disappears 5, 6.2. Growth Rate Cap: We limit the amount of new clients we will accept on an ongoing weekly basis 6. Our script is: "We only accept 5 new clients per week and we already have the first 3 spots taken, so you can take this spot or wait until we reopen" 6.3. Cohort Cap: We only accept a specific number of clients per class or cohort, such as taking on 100 clients exactly four times a year 7.4. Bonus Scarcity: We restrict the availability of supplementary deliverables 4. We offer limited-edition bonuses by stating, "I have 3 tickets left to my virtual event; if you buy this program, you can get one of the last 3 tickets as a bonus" 8.5. Extreme Scarcity (1-on-1 Access): We create a very limited supply of 1-on-1 VIP access, cap it at a tiny number, and price it extremely high 9, 10.6. The "Never Return" Penalty: We create scarcity by stating that if a client leaves our capped service level, they are never allowed to return, which forces them to think extra hard about cancelling 11.
Operational Rule: To properly utilize scarcity, we must always sell out consistently 4, 12. We endeavor to keep our supply lower than the demand we generate, leaving prospects with unsatisfied desire so they act with more urgency the next time 13-15.

PART 2: TACTICAL URGENCY (TIME)

Urgency is a function of time, defined by a strict deadline or cut-off for a purchase to occur 16, 17. Deadlines drive decisions 16, 18. We utilize urgency to increase demand by decreasing the prospect's action threshold 3. We implement these specific frameworks:
1. Cohort-Based Rolling Urgency: We enforce urgency by utilizing rolling kickoff dates 16. We remind the prospect: "If you sign up today, I can get you in with our next group that kicks off on Monday; otherwise, you'll have to wait" 19.2. Rolling Seasonal Urgency: We utilize digital countdowns tied to specific dates or seasons 20. When the deadline ends, we simply launch a new ad campaign and landing page with new dates, which drives conversions through the roof 20.3. Promotional/Bonus-Based Urgency: When selling year-round services, we attach the deadline to the promotion rather than the core offer 21, 22. We state, "Let's get you started today to take advantage of the discount you came in for, as I'm not sure how long we will run it" 21.4. Exploding Opportunity: We emphasize an opportunity that decays over time, such as an advertising arbitrage or new platform advantage 23, 24. Every second the prospect delays, they miss out on disproportionate gains 23.

PART 3: THE PROMOTION "WRAPPER" CALENDAR

Over time, offers fatigue, especially in local markets where it costs relatively little to reach an entire population 25. To prevent fatigue, we do not change the actual offer, monetization structure, or business operations; we only change the "wrapping paper" 26, 27.
We adopt the mindset of a "Fraternity Party Planner" 28, 29. Fraternities do not need a real reason to throw a party, but they always invent one, such as "John got his wisdom teeth removed" 28, 30, 31. Harvard research proves that providing any reason for an action works better than no reason at all 31. Therefore, we must continuously rename the same highly profitable Grand Slam Offer to align with seasonal events or completely fabricated milestones 18, 32-34.
The 12-Month Wrapper Schedule For Veluse Agency and our Med Spa clients, we will deploy the following calendar to ensure our core offer feels brand new every 30 days:
