

VELUSE AGENCY MASTER CLOSING SOP

Framework: C.L.O.S.E.R. Methodology + A.A.A. Objection Handling

Objective: High-Leverage Closing for Med Spa Infrastructure

THE CORE SALES PHILOSOPHY

- The person asking the questions is in control. Never monologue. Never defend. You are a diagnostician, not a beggar.
 - Sell the vacation, not the flight. Med Spa owners do not care about APIs, Make.com, or AI neural nets. They care about high-ticket bookings appearing on their calendar without their staff doing extra work.
 - Conviction is everything. The prospect must believe in your conviction more than they believe in their own doubt. You are selling a solution that fixes their broken business. Act like it.
 - Tone: Speak clearly, speak at a controlled pace (135-185 words per minute), and maintain "childlike curiosity" when faced with objections.

THE C.L.O.S.E.R. SCRIPT

Step 1: (C) Clarify Why They Are There

The goal is to extract their current baseline, their dream outcome, and get them to admit they have a problem.

- "What made you take the time to jump on this call today?"
- (If they give a vague answer): "Got it. But just so I understand, what's the specific bottleneck keeping you from where you want to be right now?"
- "What is your monthly revenue sitting at right now?"
- "Where do you want that to be in 12 months?"
- "What's your highest margin service? (Botox, Lasers, Fillers?)"

Step 2: (L) Label Them with a Problem

Summarize their pain so accurately that they instantly trust you.

- "So, let me make sure I'm hearing this right. You guys offer amazing services, but right now, you're relying on your front desk to manually call back leads when they have free time. Because of that delay, a lot of those high-ticket leads are going cold and booking with the clinic down the street. Is that an accurate label?"
- (Wait for the "Yes".)

Step 3: (O) Overview Their Past Pain

Twist the knife. Remind them that everything else they've tried has failed.

- "What have you tried in the past to fix this?"
- "Have you hired marketing agencies before? What happened?"
- "Why do you think that didn't work?"
- "How much time and money would you say you've wasted trying to figure this out on your own?"

Step 4: (S) Sell the Vacation

This is the pitch. Transition smoothly and focus purely on the Value Equation (Dream Outcome + High Likelihood of Success + Zero Time Delay + Zero Effort).

- "Does it make sense if I explain how Veluse operates?"
- "The problem isn't your ads. The problem is your data routing. If a Med Spa lead isn't contacted in under 5 minutes, they are gone."
- "We don't just run traffic. We install the Veluse Algorithmic Pipeline directly into your clinic. When a lead clicks your ad, our system algorithmically qualifies them for budget and intent, and instantly sends an AI-drafted SMS to book them on your calendar. It happens in under 10 seconds."
- "Your front desk does nothing. You just look at your calendar and see booked consults for your highest-margin services."

The Price Drop & The Grand Slam Guarantee:

- "To lock in your territory and deploy the entire infrastructure, it's a one-time setup and first month's deployment of $4,500."
- "And because we only deploy this for one clinic per 10-mile radius, we guarantee it. If we don't add 15 net-new booked appointments for high-ticket services to your calendar in the first 30 days, you don't pay us, and we will cover your ad spend out of our own pocket. Sound fair enough?"

Step 5: (E) Explain Away Concerns (Objection Handling)

Never argue. Use the A.A.A. Framework (Acknowledge, Associate, Ask).

Objection: "It's too expensive / I don't have the money."

- Acknowledge: "I completely understand, $4,500 is a real investment."
- Associate: "Honestly, a lot of our most successful clinic owners felt the exact same hesitation before they deployed our system."
- Ask: "But let me ask you—is it the actual price that's the issue, or are you just unsure if this is actually going to put 15 new high-ticket patients in your chairs this month?"
- (If they say they literally don't have cash): The Best Case / Worst Case Close: "Let's look at the logic. Worst case scenario: you do this, it fails, our guarantee kicks in, you get your money back, and we pay for your ads. You lose nothing. Best case scenario: we add $30,000 in recurring revenue to your clinic every month for the rest of the year. With no risk and massive upside, why wouldn't we do this?"

Objection: "I need to think about it."

- Acknowledge: "I hear you, it's smart to think through big decisions."
- Associate: "The best Med Spa owners we work with never rush into anything."
- Ask: "Usually when people need to think about it, it means I failed to explain something clearly. What's the biggest question mark still sitting in your head right now?"

Objection: "I need to talk to my business partner/spouse."

- Acknowledge: "Totally get it. I wouldn't want you making a decision without them."
- Associate: "Every successful partnership requires communication."
- Ask: "Just so I know, when you talk to them, are you going to be defending this idea and saying we should do it, or are you going to be the one playing devil's advocate?" (If they say they'll champion it, you help them build the pitch. If they say devil's advocate, you have an unhandled objection. Go back to Clarify).

Step 6: (R) Reinforce

Prevent buyer's remorse instantly after the credit card is run.

- "I want to be the first to welcome you to Veluse. You just made the best decision for the growth of your clinic."
- "Here is exactly what happens next. In the next 10 minutes, you're going to receive an onboarding email..." (Lay out the next 3 exact steps so they feel completely secure and guided).
